Capturing Cape Cod
May 12 – 16, 2020

The unforgettable light over a lyrical coastal landscape of lighthouses, dunes, water, and rooftops inspired painters such as Edward Hopper, Charles Hawthorne, and many others to capture Cape Cod’s unique character.

Join Art Center faculty member Wennie Huang and Director and Cape Cod native, Allison Valchuis, on a five-day exploration of this iconic American landscape dotted with charming historic seaside towns. We are very excited to offer this marvelous opportunity again to 92Y patrons. Cape Cod, the easternmost hook-shaped peninsula of Massachusetts, offers the artist what does not seem possible anymore – unadulterated views and vistas in a startling beautiful place that is lit by the reflective light of the Atlantic Ocean. Cape Cod is famous for its miles of free public beaches, sparkling ocean and lake views, dramatic marshes, preserved open spaces, and activities for visitors of all ages. It’s no wonder that its timeless beauty has attracted visitors for generations!

Located between the “tip” and “elbow” of Cape Cod, Wellfleet will be our home base for this creative journey. Your trip includes four nights’ accommodations in the town center. Breakfast and box lunches are included daily, as well as a welcome dinner and drinks at the hotel. Wellfleet is full of small restaurants, galleries, and shops that you’ll be able to explore during free evenings only a short walk or cab ride away.

Our trip will begin and end at the Wagner Inn at Duck Creek, a boutique Inn and property dating back to the 1700s. On site we’ll stay in the “Captain’s House”, the historic home of a former sea captain. Each day we’ll travel to a different picturesque plein air spot along the Cape to capture the beautiful sea and views. Daily art demos and individual and group lessons in watercolor and pastel will be included, as well as a guided exploration of the Cape Cod art scene.
Registration for Capturing Cape Cod will open online on November 20, 2020 when Winter enrollment opens. Space is limited – registration will close on January 15th or when the trip is full. Please visit 92y.org/ArtTravel to register on November 20th!

We hope you’ll join us on this journey to create memories that will last a life time!
