Ceramics Design Prep
Online Course
Gus Hamilton and Cammi Climaco

Course Objectives: This online research-based course will focus on developing new and highly refined forms paired with carefully selected surfaces. Research will be done by delving into online collections and selecting forms, then, refining them by altering scale and adding attachments. This will be done using basic sketching techniques or, if the student has access, Adobe or CAD software. These forms will be paired with surfaces selected by scouring the internet for inspiration; things like carpets, tiled walls, paintings, landscapes, and more to develop a surface treatment library.
